

CAN I REALLY BE A TEACHER?

The answer is YES! Although many places want you to believe that teaching is a mystery, the reality is that great teachers are born, not made. Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Jesus, Martin Luther, George Washington, Abe Lincoln, etc. are all examples of people who changed the world with the benefit of educational methods classes.

If you were alone without adequate curriculum, it might be more difficult. The presence of comprehensive curriculum, a self-paced approach to the child's ability without artificial ceilings or walls, the internet, and other support groups make the task possible.

You do not have to know the entire scope of the course. You need only know the next lesson beyond your child and make sure you are on schedule.

Remember, teachers are usually effective based on their compassion for their students. And no one loves your children more than you do. You have already taught them to eat, walk, share, dress, etc. It is only a small step to teach them subtraction. Whether you know it or not, you are already the most influential teacher your child will ever have.
